- You start in the space flight simulation, then you enter space and are transported to the universe. These are different worlds from normal space, made of very different materials. In these worlds, you can also collect objects, eat food, breathe and use the toilet. - You fly through the galaxies. The game consists of three stages: Space flight simulation: Here, you need to fly through four worlds and four galaxies. Each world represents a theme of the game and is divided into several levels. It is possible to gain points and unlock additional music pieces by collecting all objects. Interstellar space: Here, the music is more mysterious and atmospheric. An unknown world: In this world, the music is much more "heavy". There are more than 8,400 asteroids and space stations and more than 1,000 Earths. You can shoot asteroids that make up clouds with your lasers. When it falls on a planet, a space station or an asteroid, there may be an explosion.You can also use the toilet. - You can also use the toilet. Also here, some planets and stations are located. Some asteroids fly past or fall. The resulting effects often have an impact on the game. Objects can be shot with the lasers and explode. Other objects can be collected and use as fuel to fly to distant stars. You can also use the toilet. Storyline: - You need to balance the speed of the rocket with the gravitational force. It is possible to close the rocket ports on the sides of the rocket. Although the gravitational force will be reduced, you will be able to fly for a longer time. - You need to collect energy units to be able to reach distant stars. Controls: - Arrow keys - Movement, rotation, acceleration. Spaceflight Simulation - Each section is divided into levels. The main objective is to fly through the level and collect all objects as fast as possible. The music speeds up as the level length increases. You must shoot items that make up clouds and asteroids. - Arrows - Movement, rotation, acceleration. Nocs - There are several objects in the game. To shoot objects, select a noc. - Mouse - Select nocs. Planet - There are 8,400 planets and space stations in the game. These are divided into four themes. All nocs are located on these planets.To collect nocs, you need to click on a star. It is important to increase the number of noc

What's new:

Van Helsing II: Pigasus is a 1996 American animated science fiction comedy film and the sequel to 1995's Van Helsing. The film, inspired by a murder mystery in Atlanta, was released on July 31, 1996 by Columbia Pictures and Warner Bros. Animation. It was received positively by critics, with a three star rating from critics, based on 18 reviews, and by the critics for the Parents' Choice Awards. "Pigasus" is the name that Van Helsing calls a giant pig-like monster that attacks and eats the vampires in Atlanta. The monsters are different shades of the color orange, which is the same color that Van Helsing has warned Aurora that she has. The film also parodies films such as The Monster Squad and Predator by the main characters spelling out their name (as well as "pigasus" when many of them are scratched off) in Kellogg's Frosted Flakes. The final two words in the title, which do not appear anywhere, are "Lounge" and "leathery". Plot Thirty years prior to the events of the film, Professor John Dimitrios and his partner, Ramon Ramalus, have created a serum that helps cure vampires, on the condition that they never reveal it. The serum has two side effects, however: as soon as the vamps taste it, they get wild ideas, some of which are much more malevolent than others. Thus, whenever they taste it, they become creepy and angry murderers, given the nickname "Telebots". Professor Dimitrios and Ramon have used the serum to raise a giant, pig-like humanoid creature, named the Pigasus, which lives in the swamps of Georgia as its master. At some point, Dimitrios and Ramon decide to become the Pigasus' master after it rudely stops Ramon's kissing his girlfriend, Carla, and starts out on its own into town. One night, she is brutally murdered by a psycho named "Bubba", evidently a distant relative of the Pigasus, and the Pigasus eventually discovers Carla has really been killed by her jealous boyfriend. Meanwhile, when Dimitrios and Ramon's research requires them to appear in the town council, they are unprepared for their presence, as well as the police presence. The underworld immediately recognizes them and viciously hunts them down, almost killing them on several occasions, because they violated the new treaty between the underworld and the human realm, requiring the hunters to
