The company is a family-owned industrial equipment company, which operates from the U.K. It delivers innovative technologies to the food industry and other end users through a network of more than 220 regional and country sales offices. The work in Greece was initiated by the company's Greek representative, who had received a request from a certain importer. The client wanted to put a new pasteurizer into use and had to take into consideration the state of the Greek food industry. The equipment in question is one of the latest models of the company's pasteurizer product range, which have been specifically designed to meet the needs of the food industry. The unit supplied was a pasteurizer with the round-drum design, in which the product is conveyed by a paddle-wheel to a rotating drum, where it is processed. The treatment is carried out at 140°C and the conveyor belt of the machine has to be stopped after each cycle. After years of well-rounded testing by the Greek representative, the pasteurizer was authorized for sale to the client. H&S also had to organize the necessary documentation and certification, and it was especially necessary to put into effect the fine adjustment mechanism for the round-drum mechanism. The equipment was delivered to the client's site and, once installed, was ready for use. After only a few days, the customer was ready to put the pasteurizer into operation, and it immediately began to work without a hitch. In fact, the performance of the pasteurizer was nothing short of brilliant, and as a result the importer was extremely satisfied with the product and the company's services. And as a result, the company won a contract with another local client, who is also happy with the pasteurizer. For the food industry, pasteurization is one of the most important
