Share it: Email: WixsUp Â I installed win32crystalreports_5 in my computer and when I run the crystal report in my application it was crashed. After many hours I found the solution and run for the first time it successfully. I have one more question: I installed it in my computer already and I used the previously provided version number in my code. When I install a fresh version number will be added or the same number will be applied? My new question is : What is the connection between the Crystal report and crystal report designer?

In other words, if I have two computers with different OS and runtime version? Email: WixsUp Â I need to get quick report button using Crystal report type i want to get the crystal report in my java application. But I do not know how to deploy it. Please somebody help me to get crystal report with java application Your query does not contain any code. You should at least submit an example showing what you are trying to do. If you do, we can help you. If you're still struggling, contact us at so we can help. It's easy to get errors: - your question is a duplicate - your question is not a question (or contains less than 1-3 sentences) - the links you provide do not contain the code, or the code is not working, or you have not included the code. Regarding the second question of yours, the link you provided, I'm currently looking at the page you provided and you did not provide enough information to help you. More data is needed: - what kind of error/exception is triggered - what is your SQL statement - what is the exception message
