I'm in the process of making a design to represent the relationships between two online stores. I have two tables: Table: OnlineShoppingStore_Products ID Name Description Quantity SKU CategoryID ReferenceID Table: OnlineShoppingStore_Categories ID Name Description So for example, there could be two OnlineShoppingStores with the same Name (OnlineShoppingStore_A & OnlineShoppingStore_B), but I want the Products from each to have a separate ReferenceID. In other words, I want to create a one-to-many relationship between the two tables, where a Product can belong to many Categories, but each Category belongs to a single Product. So here's my question: Is there a way to find out whether two MySQL tables have the same column value in any one of the columns? I have a pretty strong suspicion that my question might be "unanswerable," but I'd still like to know if there is a way. A: You are looking for the join. You can use the JOIN syntax: SELECT OnlineShoppingStore_Products.Name, OnlineShoppingStore_Categories.Description, OnlineShoppingStore_Categories.Name FROM OnlineShoppingStore_Products INNER JOIN OnlineShoppingStore_Categories ON OnlineShoppingStore_Products.CategoryID=OnlineShoppingStore_Categories.ID You will have to use the ON clause with the fields to check for equality.
