You still have your food throughout the day, and you save money on groceries. If you're looking for a fast, effective way to lose weight, or simply looking to get leaner, I will be sharing some tips for starting an intermittent fasting program. Most of the methods I will share will be for the moderate, goal-oriented, or beginner. This is about changing your lifestyle, and I think it has to happen slowly for you to see the results. General Intermittent Fasting Guidelines 1. Don't skip breakfast. When fasting, it is most important that you get all the nutrients your body needs to perform at its best. You may try to go without breakfast, but be warned that it is extremely easy to fall off the wagon at this time. If you go without your morning meal, you'll find yourself constantly grabbing something out of the fridge to eat. Then you're actually burning two meals at once. 2. Don't skip lunch. Another important meal to not skip is lunch. There is evidence that skipping meals makes you hungrier, and it can mess with your metabolism. Another benefit to not skipping lunch is that you'll get the most nutrients from one meal. With fasting for so long (12 to 18 hours), a light lunch of a healthy protein and veggies is enough to give you all the nutrients you need. If you do eat a normal sized lunch, eat a healthy protein and veggies along with a snack. 3. Don't snack all day. I've already talked about not skipping meals, but another big issue with intermittent fasting is eating all day. If you have your meals spread out over the course of the day, it will help alleviate the cravings you may feel. One habit that you may have to work on is snacking.
