EXOSTORM is a top down shooter in the genre of Crimson Skies, Galaga, Gradius, or The Binding of Isaac. Instead of an awesome plane though, you pilot a giant ship. The screen is completely flat with no depth. There are no rails, no straights, and your ship can pass through walls and ceilings. You fly about the screen picking up green and red laser blasts from enemies. You control your ship with a joystick. The "space" of the game is divided into two worlds, each containing multiple levels. The first world features a number of land based "levels." The second world is an alien planet containing "boss" enemies and a heart-shaped, non-linear level. Enemies come from all angles, and fly at you in either a straight line (air-based enemies) or in a parabolic arc (land based enemies). Enemies explode on contact, and you can shoot their exploding bodies to change their trajectory, collect all the green laser shards they have left behind, and reduce their exploding bodies to a tiny little nothing. If you let one enemy pass by you, they will leave behind a tiny little nothing. Mushrooms, falling stars, and life-hacking are also used for health and avoid-this-stuff. Life-hacking is especially valuable on the alien planet, where the life pack will be very scarce if you let one enemy pass you by. EXOSTORM is a serious game. If you win, you'll get a new ship to play with. If you lose, you'll have to pay up to $250 to purchase another ship. The ships are deeply customizable with every weapon, upgrade, and hull area upgrade you can imagine. My design process begins with an early concept. I build a basic layout out of rough dimensions and rough positions of the ships key assets and then build the game. Also, I've played many previous shooters, and a lot of their controls suck. I've played enough games to know which ones are good and which ones are bad. And I've studied how to make the best games, so some of those games that I play often are the ones that I am able to "pull off" the best. YEAH.

While EXOSTORM is a free game, there is

What's new in Argil:

“Inorikaze”, the 13th digital art book published by KANA-BOON is an experimental and exploratory one. Though there are various forms of art like digital paintings, video and pixel art etc., I tried to create about 5 memories by this book. It is very difficult to express this through words. “The Sky I dream”, is my first attempt to create a ‘trapped dream of mountains’. In this book I used “ksyrap” which is the Korean language of depicting mountain. I created this picture, despite having never been to Japan. It felt like a very familiar place to me. As a new book in KANA-BOON, Inorikaze was created based on the conversations between me and the founder of the book publisher, MR. Lee. I also wrote new poems for every book. While experimenting with these digital works of different kinds, I encountered many troubles. I decided to put these into the book as the ‘mystical dust’.

Q: Symphony2 - Symlink problem I have a symfony2 application with the following permissions: serverroot/apps/myApp/web/ On my mobile phone I want to see the files but in my computer I have to show the files in serverroot/assets/videos/ How can I make that symlinks from the one context to the other and another? A: You can hard link the content folders with `ln -s node1/app/web/assetfolder1/path2/assetfolder2/` or `ln -s node1/app/web/appfolder1/path2/appfolder2/` The symlink specified earlier will also be created if it doesn't already exist. On Windows, I believe this is done by `mklink path dest` Part of a BUILD 2018 Re-Open Roundtable event session

There is no bad cops or bad Indians, no pre-fabricated plots, just a lot of white-knuckle tension and shoot-outs that unfold within limited amount of time. The only rules of this game are to: • hide from the cops and in pretty much any buildings • stay alive • stay in control of your actions, and • come up with your own plan . In particular situations, you may have to shoot or even kill someone to stay alive. . The game includes a full soundtrack with 14 excellent mid-80s and early 90s tunes which were specially made for this game. All of them are superbly played and match the action of the game. . This classic is for fans of big driving action games, and those who love 80s and 90s retro music. . In this game you will travel from the Arizona to the Pacific Ocean and across a land filled with outlaws, KKK, and FBI! . The landscapes are filled with clouds, rainy weather and desert terrain. There are a few cities, mountains, and deserts. . Enemies can be: cops (including SWAT teams), gang members, bikers, mafia, KKK, etc... . If you think you can stand the tension, click 'Yes' to be the fastest cop you ever were! . You will be fully prepared for the most exciting 3D crime action game available! Do you have what it takes to be the greatest super cop in history? In the game you will need to use your intuition, brains, skill, and fighting prowess. As a cop with deadly guns, you are the one the fight, the one who catches criminals and takes them down, and you are the one that can pick them off in different and hilarious ways. Find the wanted ones and catch them, and don't forget to unlock the 40 achievements! . In this game the ground is divided in 2 levels. On the first level you will have to run through the desert which is a place where all the bad guys hide. You have to explore the whole desert to find the wanted ones before they come after you and you will need to use your intuition to chase them and pinpoint their location. Use your gun to take out wanted ones and earn points and enjoy this retro 80s music at the same time. Visit the latest news and you might find some new guns. Play with your
